

I can't remember certain things about that night
But I know that the drinks were flowing alright
And I never really understood the limelight
But once you're in it's pretty hard to get out
This is your new life now

He felt up on my thighs I felt so alive for a moment
He placed a cigarette where his two lips met and started smoking
But it came to me that things aren't what they seem
When you're broken from the inside out
This is your new life now

Your best friend asks you to watch her drink while she's dancing
Yeah she leaves you for someone else and they start romancing
And you feel so uneasy when they take longer glances
So keep your head down, keep your head down
Cuz this is your new life now

I can't remember certain things about that night
But I know that the drinks were flowing alright
And I never really understood the limelight
But once you're in it's pretty hard to get out
This is your new life now

He felt up on my thighs I felt so alive for a moment
He placed a cigarette where his two lips met and started smoking
But it came to me that things aren't what they seem
When you're broken from the inside out
This is your new life now

Your best friend asks you to watch her drink while she's dancing
Yeah she leaves you for someone else and they start romancing
And you feel so uneasy when they take longer glances
So keep your head down, keep your head down
Cuz this is your new life now